Comment:

The stuff from physics that I threw in here may seem weird, but I think there are possibilities that merit further study. For example, the particles mentioned all increase in weight from left to right, which would place them squarely into a Qabalistic schema of descent from some ethereal (W)Holism to the material world. The four forces, meanwhile, decrease in their sphere of influence from left to right; that is, the distances at which the forces are meaningful gets smaller.

All Qabalistic references come from Crowley's Little Essays on Truth a pretty good general introduction to qabala without the hefty stuff involved with gematria.

All tarot correspondences are based on the Thoth Deck
